Reasons for Running:

I believe we are all called to service, to the service of others, no matter how big or how small that calling may be. I further believe we are all called to give back and use our God given gifts and talents to the greater good of those around us. These were early life lessons I learned from my family and were reinforced through my Jesuit education.

Early on, I realized one of my personal gifts was that of leadership, and I have tried to use that gift in the service of others my entire adult life, as I would hope my qualifications show, and as imperfectly as I may done that at times.

Fifteen years ago, I embarked on this soccer journey with my 4-year-old twin daughters which has brought me to this point in time we are at now. Like many of you, I started this journey with my children in mind. Over the years it has grown and I have had the genuine pleasure to be a part of so many young athletes lives over the years. I accepted the challenge to help these athletes become great adults through dedication, respect and commitment. To help them grow and develop, not only as soccer players, but hopefully become confident, independent, caring young adults.

Playing sports as a child, not only builds character and confidence, but also gives a sense of accomplishment. It prepares the child for life. Working as a team or as a team player. Not as an individual. I will never lose sight that in the end, soccer is just a game. We DO allow our sons and daughters to participate in this sport to hopefully create life-long friends, develop skills and have fun. And, that regardless of game outcome, if they work hard, they will win.

Rule number 1 – What’s in the best interest of the child

Rule number 2 – Refer to rule number 1

So...why am I running?

To make a difference, to serve others, and to use the gifts I have been given for the betterment of those around me. To foster quality development of soccer players at all levels of LCSA and LC United.

I want to continue to bring in quality coaches for player development; like Amanda Hall (Guyer HS) and our renewed relationship with Brandon Martin (Lake Dallas HS) for player development programs, both competitively for LC United and as they did this year for our LCSA recreational players.

I would like nothing more than to see LCSA flourish through player development and in turn see LC United be wildly successful, as long as we keep the right focus and ultimately, that should always be in what’s in the best interest of the child.
